4. Background and Goals

The Department of Pesticide Regulation has collected scores of environmental data, for example pesticide concentrations recorded in the Surface Water Database. The measurements have been collected over time, space and sampling techniques, including irregularly spaced observations due to missing data and different sampling frequency. The dataset also contains a large number of samples whose concentration is below the reporting limit of analytical instruments. The main problem arising with this complex data is the extraction of a coherent signal that shows the temporal and spatial trends of pesticide concentration in surface water. The key research questions are: (1) how to estimate summary statistics (e.g., mean, maximum, percentiles, and distribution) of pesticide residues given the above conditions, (2) what are the best sampling locations and frequencies for surface water monitoring in California, and (3) how chemical properties and environmental factors affect the pesticide concentration in the environment.

5. Objectives

The objectives are to:

A. Develop statistical methodology that can estimate pesticide concentration for the surface water database initially impeded by data gaps and uneven monitoring schedules; and,

B. Produce novel statistical data analysis tools that can utilize the estimated concentration to support applications within the DPR.
6. Work to Be Performed

A. Provide quarterly reports on study progress to DPR.

B. Task 1 -
   Conduct initial data analysis - In the first phase of the project, an extensive data analysis will take place to extract the core information inherent in the data and to identify promising routes for the modeling part. Relevant data summaries will be provided.

C. Task 2 -
   Develop a modeling framework - The second phase will develop the statistical methodology for the assessment of the monitoring data. The knowledge gained in the first phase will guide this development. Primary interest will be in introducing new spatial temporal models capable of handling irregularly spaced time series data. The models will be validated on part of the data from the Surface Water Database.

D. Task 3 -
   Develop recommended procedures - The third phase of the project is concerned with the fine-tuning of the proposed models and the development of recommended procedures for application within the DPR regarding the severity of a pesticide’s contamination and the effectiveness of regulatory measures. All findings will be given in a final technical report.

E. Task 4 -
   Prepare Manuscript for submission to leading peer-reviewed technical journals.

F. Task 5 -
   Present Seminar to DPR on research findings.

G. Task 6 -
   Prepare Final Report for submission to DPR.

7. Deliverables

The contractor will deliver to DPR:

A. Quarterly reports by email to DPR’s Contract Manager;

B. Task 1 -
   A technical memorandum summarizing the input data and results of the initial data analysis will be submitted to DPR’s Contract Manager via email on or before March 31, 2016;
EXHIBIT A STANDARD AGREEMENT

C. Task 2 –
A technical memorandum summarizing the development of a modeling framework will be prepared and submitted to DPR’s Contract Manager via email on or before September 30, 2017;

D. Task 3 –
A technical memorandum outlining recommended procedures for use within DPR will be submitted to DPR’s Contract Manager via email on or before June 30, 2018;

E. Task 4 –
A manuscript will be prepared for submission to a leading peer-reviewed technical journal. The manuscript will summarize the findings of Tasks 1 to 3 (Deliverables B. to D.). The manuscript will be emailed to DPR’s Contract Manager no less than 30 days prior to submission and not later than August 31, 2018;

F. Task 5 –
Present one seminar to DPR, toward the end of the project, on the findings of the conducted research; and,

G. Task 6 - Based on the manuscript in E., prepare a final technical report of the study and submit to DPR 6 weeks before completion of the contract.

A. It is mutually agreed that if the Budget Act of the current year and/or any subsequent years covered under this Agreement does not appropriate sufficient funds for the program, this Agreement shall be of no further force and effect. In this event, DPR shall have no liability to pay any funds whatsoever to Contractor or to furnish any other considerations under this Agreement and Contractor shall not be obligated to perform any provisions of this Agreement.
