

California Notice 2026-01

TO: Pesticide Registrants and Other Stakeholders

SUBJECT: 2026 PESTICIDE REGISTRATION AND RENEWAL FEE DETERMINATION

The California Food and Agricultural Code (FAC) section 12812(c) mandates that the Department of Pesticide Regulation’s (DPR) registration program fee structure be set so that the total revenue collected each fiscal year is sufficient to support the expenditure levels of the registration program. The fees include annual product license renewal and late payment fees, product registration fees, and fees for amendments to registered products. In accordance with FAC section 12812(f), DPR is required to notify pesticide registrants of possible fee increases determined necessary to sufficiently meet expenditure levels of the registration program by January 31 of the year of the increase. DPR must complete an annual review of the proposed budget and projected revenues to determine whether any fee adjustments are needed. DPR communicates this determination to stakeholders through an annual California Notice to Stakeholders.

After careful review, DPR has determined that the current fees are sufficient to meet DPR’s registration program expenditures for fiscal year 2026-27. The current fees for pesticide product registration, amendment, and renewal fees can be found at the How to Register a Pesticide webpage <cdpr.ca.gov/docs/how-to-register-a-pesticide/> in the Application Fees section.

DPR will continue to evaluate the proposed budget, projected revenues, employee compensation, future program mandates, and registration fees on an annual basis.
